

Mindfulness quote of the week:
'You have not failed unless you have stopped trying'

Hello everyone, I hope you are all well and have had a great week like we have! This week has flown by with so many amazing talents being shared and developed within our class.

During , we have been learning how to create effective subheadings and make notes when researching information. In maths we have focused on time, how to calculate 24hour times and the difference between times within a timetable. During P.E we started a new dance unit and the children really impressed us! Our D.T. day was amazing! The children's finished books are very professional! You are going to love seeing them when you come in for parents evening at the end of this term.

Well done to our fabulous stars of this week!

These children showed excellent skill when designing and making their moving pop-up book this week in D.T. They are also perfect role models for others and always extremely dedicated to their learning.

Reminders

Thursday 5th March is World book day. Children can come into school dressed up as a book character if they would like to. We will be spending this day on some special book activities. We will also be creating some artwork related to the illustrations within it. This will then be on display in our school art gallery on Thursday 12th March

Have a lovely weekend together! Kind regards Miss Jones & Miss Smith
